SENATORIAL CAMPAIGNS TOO COSTLY

INQUIRY AT WASHINGTON SHOWS BIG EXPENDITURE

Large Sums of Money Spent By Successful and Defeated Candidates In the Primary Campaign Recently Waged In Pennsylvania—Over a Million Dollars, It Is Claimed, Was Spent By the Three Candidates in the Nomination For United States Senator—Governor Pinchot's Expenses Alone Given As More Than $190,000.

Enough was told to lead to a conviction that a candidate for a state office in Pennsylvania, or any of the larger states, could spend from $500,000 to $1,000,000, without using one dollar to corrupt or debauch the electorate.

With the primary system apparently has grown up a lucrative profession of political promotion which yields large returns to those who have become proficient in the practice.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken, Direct From Wires By Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

Toledo — Liquor valued at $300,000 and seized from Hommel Wine company, Sandusky, last August, has been ordered returned by Federal Judge John M. Killits who quashed the search warrant on which the confiscation was made. William H. Hommel, president of the company, contended the search warrant was defective and illegal.

Finds Movies Offer Field for Organist

New York.—Modern organists have found their greatest opportunity for development in a place where a few years ago it was least expected to exist—the American motion picture theater—says Dr. Melchiorre Mauro-Cottone, concert organist and composer.

Many of the finest organs in the world are in the cinema palaces and the men who play them, in Doctor Cottone's opinion, reach larger audiences than they have ever had before.

"There was a time," he said, "when it was thought the organ was not very adaptable to the motion picture theater. But we now know how false this opinion was. The organ is most elastic, even more so than the orchestra, and in playing for the screen we can switch instantly from one theme to another."

AN INSPIRING AND HELPFUL CONVENTION

Sunday School Workers of County in Session—E. S. Neuding New President.

The fifty-ninth annual convention of the Pickaway County Sunday School association met this morning at the United Brethren church.

The convention opened with a song service conducted by Rev. F. E. Roberts, of Glouster. The invocation was given by Rev. George Weir, of this city and Mr. E. S. Neuding, the president of the association, greeted and welcomed the audience.

The annual report was read by the secretary, George P. Hunsicker, of Williamsport, who has been in the harness as secretary twenty-nine years. In his report Mr. Hunsicker mentioned the fact, that this is the first time that a layman has served as president for more than thirty years. Mr. Neuding has served as county secretary several years prior to 1897, and has served faithfully in other offices ever since. His election, as president, was a deserved compliment to his faithful service for many years standing in the organization.

The treasurer's annual report was read by George F. Grand-Girard, who reported total receipts for the year, $349.03; expenditures, $318.90; balance left over from June 11, 1925, $240.93; balance June 10, 1925, $271.06.

Mrs. R. M. Sandy, of Mt. Vernon, read a paper on "A Study of Children's Work," which was pertinent and interesting. Mr. Arthur T. Arnold of Columbus, spoke on the subject, "The study of the church school administration, which showed that he was conversant with a vital portion of Sunday school work in churches.

Rev. Arthur M. Shanefelt, of Columbus, spoke on "The Church's Problem with Youth," a most interesting and instructive subject.

A greeting from a past county president was given by Rev. E. D. Paulin, of Tiffin.

The afternoon was replete with interesting subjects and the evening program will be interesting as M. Arthur T. Arnold of Columbus, will give an address on the subject; The Great Objectives in Religious Education. The subject, "Childhood, Our Opportunity," will be given by Mrs. R. M. Sandy, of Mt. Vernon, and a message will be given by Rev. E. D. Paulin, of Tiffin.

Escaped Huguenot Killing

Bernard Pallissy, a prominent Huguenot of the Sixteenth century, was exempted from the massacre of St. Bartholomew's day by Catherine de Medici, because he was engaged in decorating the gardens of the Tuilleries palace in Paris.

Princeton, N. J.—One thousand words may be written on a typewriter with the expenditure of heat contained in a single peanut. Prof. Andrew Hunter of the University of California said. The amount of heat given off by persons in various occupations during a day he estimates as: No work, 1,930 calories; tailor, 2,700 calories; carpenter, 3,500; and lumberman, 5,500.

DELIGHTFUL DAY IN WOODS FOR KNIGHTS

Templar Families From Six Counties Had Great Picnic in the Zwicker Grove.

One of the most enjoyable events of the season was the picnic of Knights Templar and their families held Wednesday, June 9, in the beautiful Zwicker grove on the Northridge road and just at the edge of the city.

The field day and picnic was given under the direction of Sir Knight John P. Kuhns, of Columbus, commander of the district composed of Franklin, Knox, Fairfield, Ross, Fayette and Pickaway counties and was attended by six hundred, or more persons.

Among those in attendance, was Right Eminent Grand Commander Charles H. Voegelé, of Mansfield, and three past grand commanders; John P. McCune, Campbell M. Voorhees and J. Oscar Schoedinger, of Columbus, and Robert H. Pausch, also of Columbus, standard bearer of the grand commandery of Ohio.

In the Grand Commander's party were Mrs. Voegelé, Mrs. W. M. Hahn, Mrs. Clemie France and Mrs. William Ackerman, all of Mansfield.

The day was spent by the picnickers in getting better acquainted with each other and in games of all kinds.

At 3:30 o'clock the crack teams of Mt. Vernon commandery, No. 1, and Columbus commandery, No. 69, both of the Capital City, gave exhibition drills which elicited the wonder and admiration of all those who witnessed the clock-like precision of the movements of the large companies of men who had been subjected to training under competent instructors.

At 5 o'clock the uniformed Sir Knights, with the splendid Knight Templar band from Columbus staged a very creditable parade from the picnic grounds to North Court street thence south to Franklin, west to Scioto, north to Main, east to Court, then north to Northridge road and to the field day grounds.

The big event of the day was the real picnic supper served on tables in the cooling shade of the big forest trees. At the supper hour coffee and ice cream were served free and in abundance and lemonade was dispensed thruout the day.

One of the most attractive features of the afternoon and evening was the platform where Knights and Knightslets and their partners enjoyed dancing, doing all the old and new steps, as well as some never seen before on any platform. The music for the dancing was furnished by the Blenn Bales orchestra.

The program for the day was announced by Commander Kuhns, who presented Dr. B. R. Bales, commander of Scioto commandery, who welcomed the Sir Knights and their families, and he was followed by Right Eminent Grand Commander Voegelé who expressed his great pleasure on being able to be present.

Everybody voted the field day and picnic a great success as it sets a new mark for these affairs which are only of recent origin, but which will hereafter be held annually at some point in each district. It is believed now that the experimental stage has been passed, and that now Knight Templar field and picnic days are an established fact.

Great credit is due District Commander Kuhns for his tireless efforts in creating interest and in working out the many details necessary to a perfect day or real enjoyment.

FRENCH CLEMENCY EXTENDED TO AN AMERICAN

Washington, June 8.—(UP.)—

Government authorities today received gratefully United Press advices from Paris that Premier Briand had acted voluntarily to save the American, Bennett Doty, also known as Gilbert Clare, of the French foreign legion, from a firing squad.

They were the more surprised by the liberal gesture since they had feared the French commander in the Near East, after review by the Paris war ministry would mete out to Doty the fate that befalls mutineers or deserters in any army.

Senators Tyson and McKellar of Tennessee and Harrison of Mississippi, who had been working on behalf of the lad, were especially pleased.

The Doty case represented the third instance of French clemency to Americans of the legion. Last year the state department secured the release of William F. Kilgore, of Shreveport, La., a minor who had been with the legion in Morocco and in March the department obtained the freedom of another American, Thos. Williams, of San Francisco, also a deserter from the legion in Morocco.

Lassos Vary in Length

The length of lassos depends upon the use to which they will be put. Some are from 20 to 25 feet. This will allow a fairly good throw. Some lassos, however, are much longer than this, such as the western lasso. These run sometimes as long as 50 feet.

Lesson for June 13

JOSEPH'S FIDELITY

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 39:1-23.
GOLDEN TEXT—Seest thou a man diligent in his business; he shall stand before kings.—Prov. 22:29.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Noble Slave Boy.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How Joseph Behaved as a Slave.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Passing Severe Tests.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Triumphing Over Trials.

I. Joseph, the Well Beloved Son (37:3).

He was Jacob's favorite son, partly due to the fact that he was the son of the wife of his first love and the son of his old age, but mainly because of the superior qualities he possessed.

II. Joseph's Fidelity as a Son (37:12-17).

Joseph's brethren had gone to Shechem, some fifty miles from Hebron, where there was plenty of pasture for their flocks. After a time Jacob became anxious as to their welfare and dispatched Joseph, now about seventeen years old, for the purpose of finding out their condition. He did not allow the envious hatred of his brethren to deter him from his duty, but willingly responded. "Here am I." He no doubt realized that his mission was fraught with great perils—exposure to wild beasts, robbers, and the murderous hatred of his brethren. His fidelity is shown in two ways.

1. The fact that his father sent him on such a long and dangerous journey to bring back word concerning his brethren shows that he had proved himself to be a trustworthy character.

2. His brave and glad response to his father's request. He responded to his father's confidence.

III. Joseph's Fidelity as a Slave (39:1-19).

1. Sold to the Ishmaelites (37:28).

At the sight of Joseph, the murderous envy of his brethren was stirred up. They first proposed to kill him in order to prevent his dreams coming true. Finally, the prudent suggestion of Judah to sell him to the Midianites prevailed and he was carried to Egypt and sold to Potiphar as a slave.

2. His prosperity while a slave in Potiphar's house (39:2-16).

The secret of Joseph's prosperity was that the Lord was with him (v. 2). This prosperity consisted:

(1) Of being accorded the privilege of Potiphar's house, i. e., his private residence instead of his fields or public buildings.

(2) He became Potiphar's personal attendant (v. 4). Observing Joseph's fidelity Potiphar chose him to give attention to his personal affairs.

(3) He was made overseer over Potiphar's house (v. 4). As a personal attendant he proved himself to be so capable that he was made administrator over his estate including his household. He no doubt purchased all supplies and had charge of the servants.

(4) He brought prosperity to Potiphar (v. 5).

The Lord blessed Potiphar for Joseph's sake.

(5) He possessed an attractive personality (v. 6). His fine physique and commanding personality were gifts from God. All our gifts should be consecrated to the Lord who gave them.

3. His temptation (vv. 7-17).

His very attractive person became his peril. Potiphar's wife became infatuated with this handsome slave, and attempted to induce him to commit adultery with her. He resisted this temptation because yielding would have been to sin against his master and his God. The man who is faithful to God will be faithful to his fellowmen.

IV. Joseph's Fidelity as a Prisoner (vv. 19-23).

Being defeated in her wicked purpose, Potiphar's wife accused Joseph falsely. Because of her charge he was thrust into prison. Potiphar must not have really believed his wife or else he would have put Joseph to death. He did to him the least that was possible under the circumstances. Because of his purity and unflinching loyalty to God and man, God was with him even in the prison.

1. The Lord gave him favor in the sight of the keeper of the prison (v. 21). This keeper was none other than Potiphar himself (40:3, cf. 39:1).

2. He was given charge of the prisoners (v. 22).

Potiphar knew Joseph's ability and faithfulness, therefore gave him employment in this new place.

3. The Lord made him prosperous (v. 23).

Joseph's success was due to the hand of his God upon him.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET 1926

Amid streamers of purple and gold and a setting of unusual beauty the Junior-Senior banquet for the class of 1926 was held Monday evening in the High School gymnasium. The season's flowers bedecked the room with the purple and gold iris, the colors of the Senior class vied with the pink and white peonies, roses and carnations of the Juniors for notice.

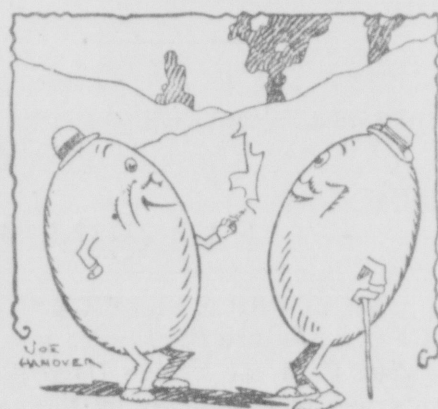

The center of the room was graced with the large table at which were seated the members of the board of education and their wives and Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Eagleson. This table was beautifully decorated with the roses of the Juniors and the purple and gold streamers of the Seniors. The members of the class and the faculty were seated at small tables which were artistically arranged around the larger table.

Each table was centered by a crystal dish containing either a pink or a white peony head which weighted a tiny toy balloon in purple and gold. The place cards which were also delightful favors, were in the form of flowers whose centers contained candies. Over this scene the lights in the gymnasium shed a faint glow through drums of purple and gold. It was surrounded by this grandeur that Grover Moore, the president of the Junior class, acting as toastmaster of the evening, performed his duties with the skill of an expert. Members of the board of education, and of the faculty, who responded to requests with toasts were, Mr. E. A. Brown, Miss Rains, Mr. Eagleson, Mr. Cain and Miss Watson. Miss Alice Ada May as toastmistress of last year's banquet, also responded in her charming way. Mr. Thacker, the retiring principle gave the farewell address which was also an adieu as this is the last occasion for him to address these pupils with whom he has worked during their entire four years of high school.

The delicious banquet was served in three courses with coffee last, was thoroughly enjoyed and the credit for the success of the evening goes to Misses Ruth Cryder, as chairman of refreshments, Charles Walters, chairman of arrangements, Miss Helen Steele, decorating and Miss Helen Hitler who arranged the place cards and seated the entire assemblage. These young ladies were ably assisted by members of their committees.

It was a thoroughly enjoyable affair and one that the class can look back upon with pride in the years to come.

Tragic Case

The street was thronged with thousands of hurrying pedestrians. Suddenly a woman's cry rose shrilly above the noise of the passing throngs. "Give me air," she shrieked. The crowds gasped and stood aside—and a woman triumphantly drove her car, with one flat tire, into the filling station.—University of Washington Columns.

First in Silk

When you admire a piece of silk tapestry or silk damask adorning a piece of American-made furniture, it is interesting to know that America ranks first among all the countries manufacturing silks, with France second in production.

Still With Him

Two men who had been married about the same time met after some months. One asked the other how he liked married life. "Fine," was the reply. "My wife's an angel." Said the other, "You always did get the luck. I've still got mine."—Tit-Bits.

Combination Costume Features Black Satin

The ensemble for street wear is much in evidence this season. Here is shown a smart combination costume of black satin, trimmed with white. The coat is lined with white satin. The sleeves and collar are trimmed with rows of ermine. A small hat of black satin, white patent leather bag and shoes of the palest tan complete this interesting outfit.

Sports Frock Almost Warm Weather Uniform

The term "sports frocks," used so often to describe the simple little dresses that are almost a summer uniform with the smart woman, is rather a misnomer. In the majority of instances they are not designed for active participation in sports but their development has been influenced by the casual and becoming lines that distinguish the sports costume of the present season.

Scarcely an important collection of models was turned out by French and American houses that did not include several different interpretations of the universally becoming style. The jersey in a faint shade of pink formed the jumper in one instance, while striped silk in tones of navy blue and pink was used for the platted skirt and for the handkerchief scarf, which is an integral part of the frock and not merely an accessory.

Another model which reflects the astonishing popularity of frocks of this type featured a skirt of black and white checked wool, with a jumper blouse of flat crepe in a brilliant tone of lipstick red. The effect was unusually smart. The color scheme was further carried out in the hat of red crocheted straw and a wide flat underarm bag of red leather trimmed with bands of interwoven strips of black and white patent leather.

Flowers of Every Hue Worn on All Costumes

Flowers of every hue are being received with great enthusiasm for wear with all sorts of costumes. Those of last season are being shown in larger sizes, and some new species have been introduced to wear with the new costumes. Lacquered pansies, so fresh looking that they may easily be mistaken for the real, come in attractive little bunches. Then there are the large carnations in new shades of pink and lavender. For the afternoon dress that requires a touch of white there is a tropical flower with large soft full petals and a yellow center. Mammoth gardenias in shell pink and white, with buds tucked under the leaves, have come from Paris and are said to be the latest fad there. For those who either prefer or require a flat shoulder flower, there is the Chanel flower, made of finely platted georgette petals and silk floss center. These either match a dress or add a touch of contrast.

Grosgrain Ribbon Used on Beige, White Hats

A novelty is the use of bands of colored grosgrain ribbon on the beige and white hats of this season. Often two contrasting colors, such as red and green, are used; often two shades of the same color. Particularly with Patou's sweater blouses of white, striped horizontally with narrow lines of two colors or two shades, these hatbands look well; and they are a real resource to those whose packing room is limited or whose purse is depleted. In that many of them serve the same hat. With colored hatbands and coat-sweaters and the scarfs and big neck handkerchiefs which seem to have returned to favor, you may make a dozen variations on one of them, with profit to the budget.

Flowers, too, are a great help in this contrasting of bright and neutral tones that make the new ensemble. In Paris they had given them up, except in the evening; here they are rampant on almost every shoulder.—Harper's Bazar.

Footwear Changes

Snake skin and alligator skin seem to have left the other animals out of the running when it comes to shoe leather. And kid models are more often than not banded with these mottled leathers, to compromise with the mode.

Needle Mystery

"A western Kansas man found the proverbial needle in the straw stack. How it got there he doesn't know, but after he slid down the stack it required an hour for the surgeon to get the needle out." VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY

The Daily Vacation Bible school sponsored by the Ministerial association of Circleville will open in the Franklin street school building Monday, June 14, at 9 o'clock. The sessions will be from 9 till 11:30, five days a week for four weeks. The co-operating churches have provided funds which makes this school possible. The school will be under the supervision of Miss Stewart, of Columbus, who is experienced in both public school and Daily Vacation Bible school work. A teaching staff has been very carefully chosen and will be on salary. It is possible in this four weeks to give as much religious instruction as is given in a whole year in Sunday school. It is not only a Bible school but a school which includes training in worship, community pride, health, and hand work. It teaches Christian principles thru doing.

Parents who are interested in all round development of their children will consider this school a real opportunity. Wherever these schools have been held the children are enthusiastic about them and each year larger schools are necessary to take care of the increased enrollment.

This school is open to any child in the community between the ages of four and fourteen. A tuition fee of fifty cents for the first child and twenty-five cents for each other child in a family will be charged. Enrollment should be made at once.

The following enrollment blank may be used:

CRIME WAVE?

It could hardly be called that.

Yet, many a time it has been said that it is a crime to let shoes go too long before having them resoled.

Lots of good repairable shoes are lying around inactive that could be repaired and would give long additional service. This is almost criminal waste.

It is practically criminal waste to buy cheap, unrepairable shoes. our

DEATH CLAIMS PROMINENT NEW HOLLAND WOMAN

Mrs. Florella Gooley, Wife of Wesley W. Gooley Dies at Home of Daughter.

One of New Holland's most venerable women passed on, when Mrs. Florella Young Gooley, wife of Wesley W. Gooley was called by death at 12:40 Tuesday morning, June 8. Mrs. Gooley, who with her husband was visiting their daughter, Mrs. George McHenry and husband, of Athens, for the past ten days, died at their home. Death followed a relapse of illness from which she had suffered for the past three years and resulted from complications. She was 76 years, four months and 14 days of age.

Mr. and Mrs. Gooley had gone to the McHenry home, where they hoped that Mrs. Gooley would gain strength in her temporary recovery.

The deceased, a prominent figure in the church work of the community, was widely known thruout this section. Until illness prevented, she was active as a teacher in the Church of Christ Sunday school, ever since it was founded, over two score of years ago. She had last taught a class of women, known as the Florilla class, and named for her. She was loved by her many pupils, as she was by all those whom had gained an acquaintance with her.

In her departure she is survived by the husband, Wesley W. Gooley, two daughters, Mrs. Minnie McHenry, of Athens, and Mrs. Blanche McLain, of New Holland, one son, James H. Gooley, of Columbus. There are also five grandchildren and one great-grandchild. She is the last of her immediate family of Youngs, formerly of the Pancoastburg neighborhood, to be called.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Church of Christ at 1 o'clock, Thursday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Roberts will have charge of the service. Interment will be made in the New Holland cemetery.—New Holland Leader.

Know Your Cook Book, Girls, Advice of Diva

Margery Maxwell, prima donna with the Chicago Civic and Ravinia opera companies, and who enjoys the distinction of being among the first American girls to be recognized in grand opera circles, takes particular pride in her culinary skill. Cooking, in her estimation, is a fine art which is rapidly being lost.

Margery Maxwell.

"Doubtless one of the big reasons for this condition is that modern young men don't expect the girls they marry to know much about cooking," said Miss Maxwell.

"In the future, before man pops the question, he's going to find out whether the girl knows what calories are and whether she's wise to the elements of a balanced diet.

"A few questions before the minister asks, 'Do you take this woman?' would save a thousand recriminations later."

There are certain dishes to which Miss Maxwell is partial. As she explains them, they are readily prepared. Miss Maxwell uses for Maryland Chicken.

Two 2 1/2 lb. chickens (broilers)	1 cup water
Salt	2 eggs
Pepper	1/2 cup butter
1 cup evaporated milk diluted with	1 tsp. salt
	Dash pepper
	2 tbsp. flour

Dress, clean and cut up chickens. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, dip in crumbs, egg, and crumbs. Place in a well-oiled dripping pan, and bake twenty minutes in a 450-degree F. oven, then reduce the temperature to 350 degrees F. and cook until tender, about twenty minutes longer. Baste every ten minutes during cooking with 1/2 cup melted butter. Remove to platter and pour around a cream sauce made of fat in dripping pan, the flour, diluted milk, salt and pepper.

1 bunch fresh asparagus	1/2 cup water
6 rounds toast	2 tsp. butter
6 poached eggs	2 tsp. flour
1/2 cup evaporated milk diluted with	1 tsp. salt
	Dash pepper
	1/2 cup grated cheese

Prepare a white sauce of the butter flour, salt, pepper and diluted milk. Cook the asparagus in boiling salted water. Drain and add to white sauce. Place a poached egg in center of toast. Pour asparagus around the egg and sprinkle grated cheese over top of all. Serve at once. Serves six.

RECORDS OF CIVILIZED RACE OF 4,000 YEARS AGO FOUND

Hurri, Hitherto Unknown, Sought in Vain to Prevent Rise of Capitalism.

Philadelphia.—Records of an ancient race, whose civilization vied with that of the Hittites and Egyptians as they lived in the shadow of the Tower of Babel, were revealed by speakers before the American Oriental society.

Dr. E. A. Speiser and Prof. Edward Chiera of the University of Pennsylvania made the report after a year of study of a thousand clay tablets uncovered in southern Mesopotamia.

The race, said to have existed 4,000 years ago, heretofore, had been unknown to archeologists. It is known as the Hurri, and the translation of the tablets was expected by the savants attending the meeting to add a new page to ancient history.

"This race," said Doctor Speiser, "had a law against the direct sale of land. However, much as they tried to legislate against the growth of a capitalistic class, the effort failed. Land owners adopted those whose land they wished to obtain. As a result huge land tracts were under one family's jurisdiction. A man had a perfect right to kill his slaves, suffering no consequences whatever."

The tablets, the translation of which has just been completed, cover a period of five generations in one family.

Report of the discovery of two burial tablets, tending to bear out the traditional story of the burial of the bodies of Peter and Paul by Orientals on the Appian Way, near Rome, as related in the apocryphal writings, was made by Prof. Romaine Newbold.

The tablets, he said, bearing Aramaic inscriptions, were found in the Church of San Sebastian, on the Via Appia, about three miles from Rome. They are declared to be the first inscriptions in Aramaic found in Italy, and prove, he believes, there were Orientals in Italy during the First century of the Christian era.

Excavators found the tablets buried 30 feet deep. Translation revealed that they were placed there by an Oriental slave woman named Pecora, who buried her master and mistress there and who erected the tablets as grave markers. The master and mistress of this slave, Professor Newbold believes, were early Christians of the so-called Gnostic sect which tried to gain control of the Roman church.

Professor Newbold said the earliest date on which the burial of Peter and Paul by Orientals is recorded is around 258 A. D. and that the tradition has been accepted by the Roman Catholic church. Latin inscriptions invoking the blessings of Peter and Paul by the earlier Christians of the Third and Fourth centuries have been found frequently. None of them, however, attests to the presence of Orientals.

FARM VALUES DECREASE 25 PER CENT IN 5 YEARS

Shrinkage From $66,316,002,602 to $49,546,523,759 Reported After Agricultural Census.

Washington.—A shrinkage in the value of American farms and farm buildings from $66,316,002,602 in 1920 to $49,546,523,759 in 1925 was estimated in the Department of Commerce in a preliminary report on the latest agricultural census. The decrease amounts to a little more than 25 per cent.

Farm acreage in the same period declined from 955,883,715 to 924,889,380 acres, and the department's division of land economics calculated the decline in the average acre value of land and buildings at 22 per cent, and for land alone at 28 per cent. The value of farm buildings, it explained increased 6 per cent.

The 1925 figures, compared with those for 1910, indicated an increase of 35 per cent in the average farm value, but considering the drop in the purchasing power of the dollar during that interval, the economists concluded there was actually a net decline of 10 to 12 per cent during that period.

The decline during the last five years was not general, the department's experts found, the shrinkage in values having been greatest in the range country, the wheat and corn belts, and the eastern cotton states, while a slight increase was recorded in New England and the Middle Atlantic states. In the Mountain states, the decline amounted to 41 per cent, in Iowa 34 per cent, and in Georgia 40 per cent. The increase in New England was 6 per cent and in the Middle Atlantic states 1 per cent. Pacific coast values remained constant.

Collapse of the war land boom, with a fall of corn and hog prices, accounted largely for the decline in Iowa, the experts reported, while the decrease in Georgia was due chiefly to the boll-weevil and the exodus of negro workers. In the range country and mountain states, they said, drought and the collapse of wheat prices were the leading causes.

The increase in farm values in the Northwestern states was attributed to a great extent to the development of the dairy industry, the favorable position respecting markets, and an increased demand for farm land for recreational purposes.

British Honduras, to which Baron Bliss has bequeathed 25,000 pounds per annum, is one of the most backward of colonies, and has a long-standing reputation for free-and-easy ways, even in the administration of justice. Some years ago, the story goes, a man whose wife eloped with another, shot his rival and was sentenced to a term of imprisonment for murder. A friend in Jamaica, hearing of his plight, went to Honduras to see what could be done. He found the prisoner, accompanied by a gaoler, transacting his ordinary business at his office. On the friend explaining that he hoped to obtain his release because he had acted within the "unwritten law," the criminal became violently excited and exclaimed: "But no, that is impossible, I have let my house."—Pierre Van Paassen, in Atlanta Constitution.

Fathers and Mothers

Arthur Somers Roche, the novelist, was discussing at Palm Beach Rebecca West's recent diatribe on the selfishness of fathers.

"If fathers love their children too little," he said, "mothers love them too much. A mother is apt to love her child so extravagantly that she'll sacrifice anything for it—even her husband."

"One mother said to another: 'What a naughty little boy Tommy is! Doesn't he know better than to keep striking you over the head with that heavy stick?'

"Don't blame him," said the second mother. 'Don't blame the little angel. He's only doing, bless his heart, what he sees his father do every day.'"

A LIVING SAVINGS BANK

Last Sunday Mrs. John Wertman of North Pickaway street, dressing a hen for dinner found four cent pieces in biddy's craw; the coins were hardly recognizable as the gizzard juices had worn them down to about half their original thickness.

Where the hen succeeded in finding the coins is a mystery—she might have unearthed a hidden treasure.

YOU CAN'T HIDE A FARM IN A SAFE DEPOSIT BOX

"How much would you take for your farm?"

"It isn't for sale."

"Don't blame you! If I had it I wouldn't want to sell."

"Did you ever stop to think that you might be forced to sell or mortgage the place, to hand the money over to someone who was injured by one of your cars?"

"You know how crowded the highways are. You run the risk of accident every time one of your cars leaves the yard. I say you, because, no matter who may be driving the car at the time of the accident, you, as owner, will be the man held responsible."

"Right after an accident there is a distinct disadvantage in owning a prosperous farm. It cannot be conveniently hidden in a safe deposit box. It is evident to all who pass. As a consequence, if someone is injured by one of your cars, he's likely to say to himself; 'That fellow is good for any judgment I can get against him. I might as well ask for a large sum.' And suddenly you find yourself sued for $25,000 or $50,000."

Would you care to have a jury of twelve men, picked up here and there around the county, deciding whether or not you should keep your farm?

"Even if the claimant is not given all he asked, you would have been put to the great worry and expense of defending the suit; during which time your regular work is sure to suffer."

"Let me fix you up with Automobile insurance, which will protect your interests if an automobile damage suit is brought against you; pay the court and defense costs, if the case goes to court, and protect your farm, by paying the judgment up to the limits of your policy, if one is rendered against you."

HARTMAN THEATER.
x x x x x x x x

Monday night, June 7, the Hartman Stock company introduces its new leading lady, Miss Ruth Shepley, in the leading role in Ina Claire's big comedy hit, "Grounds for Divorce."

Miss Shepley comes direct from New York where she has been playing on Broadway for many seasons. Her most recent Broadway production was in "Cape Smoke" at the Martin Beck theater where she was featured with James Rennie (Dorothy Gish's husband). It ran the entire last season on the Great White Way. She was the only featured player in "The Backslapper," which ran an entire season in New York and has received her theatrical training under two of the most prominent Broadway banners—with George M. Cohan and David Belasco. Miss Shepley had the leading role in Cohan's "Two Fellows and a Girl," in "Adam and Eve," played seventy weeks on Broadway in Belasco's "The Boomerang." Miss Shepley is one of the most beautiful actresses of Broadway and will win many new friends and admirers during her stay in Columbus this summer.

Her debut in Columbus will be the leading role in "Grounds for Divorce," playing the part which Ina Claire starred in, opposite Donn Cooke. It is a part that will give her an excellent opportunity to introduce herself to Columbus. Donn Cooke will have an excellent role as the young divorce lawyer. Every other member of the company will be seen in other good roles, and it is predicted that "Grounds for Divorce" will be one of the most popular plays of the season.

Dancing in the foyer begins a half hour before the play and continues during intermissions. On matinee days, the orchestra plays a half hour after the end of the play. Matinees on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

WOMEN SHOULD ASSUME SHARE OF BURDENS

They Can Raise Moral Tone of Community by Force of Their Pure Lives.

There is gratifying evidence that the women Republicans and women Democrats of Cincinnati intend to meet the issue of citizenship responsibility by organizing their respective forces under the party banners.

The organization of women as distinctive party units is much to be commended. This policy promises a continuance of representative free government as designed by the founders of the republic. In this, as in every other city, such action will make for better government, for better social relationships.

There is but one fly in the ointment—the disastrous jockeying, cabals and contests for party leadership, which appear to be inseparable from political functioning in the majority of communities. Accord, loyal cohesion to party discipline and interest should be the rule. A wise and disinterested leadership selection makes for success, assures poise, and will compel efficiency in public and party services.

Woman here greatly can assist the city, the state, the nation. The moral influence of women is a truer reliance than that of men.

Practical politics can be kept clean and right. Democrats and Republicans have managed this nation from its early history, and no one can say that the result has not been good, has not been of surpassing importance to this people and the world. These parties can continue to do that—they will continue to do that, if the women of the nation stand loyally by the formula of party organization.

More and more the woman citizen should learn to think—and they are learning so to think—with their intellects instead of with their emotions. They should not permit themselves to be made the pawns of designing and selfish interests, of dangerous forces. In party organization and activity they will discover the talisman of citizenship power. It is to be found nowhere else.

Speaking in this connection the other day, Justice Dowling, of New York, declared: "There never was a time in the world's history when the model and mirror of true womanhood was as sadly needed as now, but, fortunately, never was the world more ready to heed its call and to profit by its teaching. Chivalry disappeared from the earth with the conferring of equal political rights upon women. But their always great power for good has, by this act, been tremendously increased. A good woman today can raise the moral tone of her community by mere force of her own pure and unstained life. Almost despite herself she is a force to be reckoned with. The future of America, at least is in her hands."

All of this is true. But having been granted equal political rights, it would be a tragedy if women bartered away this inestimable privilege by permitting herself to be deluded by the ballyhoosers of dubious reform or the insidious seductions of selfishness disguised under some lying raiment. As Democrats and Republicans, they will represent a saving constructive force operative to maintain, unchanged and unharmed, the system of American democracy.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

IN MEMORIAM

Editor Union-Herald:—Nancy Willoughby, daughter of Thomas and Nancy Spangler Poulson, was born near Derby, March 1, 1864, and at the noon hour passed away at her home near Derby on June 2, 1926, aged 62 years, three months and one day.

December 26, 1893, she was united in marriage to William Willoughby and to this union were born two daughters, Lenore, wife of Howard Shepard of Briggsdale, and Gladys, at home.

At about six years of age she moved to the home near Derby where she spent the rest of her life. She received her education at the Renick school, near her home. She united with the church at Old Renick when but a girl and for many years was the church organist. Later she transferred her membership to the Methodist Episcopal church at Derby where it still remained.

She was a good Christian woman, an affectionate and loving wife and mother. One of her ambitions was to raise her girls to be good and to live the way they should. To her daughters she was a true and confident parent and to her husband a real helpmate. Never was there a more sacrificing mother, wife and daughter in her efforts to help and do all she could for her loved ones.

Living at home with her father, who became an invalid, she tenderly cared for him for several years and although deprived of the privilege of attending church and other gatherings, she was never known to complain. She also cared for her invalid stepmother, who passed away less than one year ago.

To those who visited her home she was always cordial. Her home was a place of hospitality which had been enjoyed by many. Always ready to help a friend or neighbor in any way possible. Nan, as she was commonly called by relatives and friends will certainly be missed, because to know her was to love her. While we feel that her passing away is our loss, it is heavens gain.

She is survived by her husband, two daughters, one granddaughter Genieva Shepard, three sisters and one brother, besides many friends. All those loving hands could do was done to help relieve her sufferings and try to restore her health, but God knows best.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our many thanks to all our neighbors and friends for their help and many acts of kindness during the illness and at the death of our dear wife and mother; also to the singers and to all those for their beautiful floral offerings, to the ministers for their words of kindness and to the undertaker, J. L. Norris. May God's blessing be on all who have helped and offered sympathy in any way.

Wm. and Gladys Willoughby,
Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shepard.

BROWN LEADS WITH COOPER CLOSE SECOND

Republican Nomination Between Secretary of State and Cincinnati Man.

Rollie Hahn, of Niles, federal prohibition inspector, whose work requires him to visit every portion of the state, has just returned to Columbus, after a trip which took him into many sections, widely scattered geographically.

As a Republican, a keen observer and long years of experience in politics, Mr. Hahn viewed the political situation with the eye of one able to analyze conditions and draw definite conclusions.

"In my opinion," he said, "and I feel that I have not been deceived, the Republican gubernatorial nomination will go to one of two men, either secretary of state, Thad Brown or Myers Cooper, of Cincinnati. I do not believe that any of the other candidates can secure sufficient support to become even dangerous contenders. The man next talked of most is probably State Treasurer Harry S. Day. But I am convinced that the nomination will go to either Brown or Cooper."

"The secretary of state is in the lead in my judgment. Owing to his long experience in politics, his well known ability as a vote getter and the organization he has in the state, largely based upon personal friendship he commands a larger following than any of the others, altho the strength of Mr. Cooper must be recognized."

"The withdrawal of Lieutenant Governor Lewis, a disappointment to his friends and supporters, has not reacted to the distinct advantage of any particular candidate. A man cannot scatter his strength as he wills. His followers are now going where the will and according to their individual preference, since he has withdrawn."

CHIEF JUSTICE MARSHALL IS A CANDIDATE

Petition is Signed by Seventeen Hundred Lawyers Thruout the State.

Chief Justice Carrington T. Marshall, of the Ohio supreme court, Tuesday filed with the secretary of state a declaration of candidacy for renomination to his present position at the Republican primaries in August. Summers, of Springfield, headed the petition and their names were followed by signatures of 1700 lawyers judges and other citizens scattered thruout Ohio, these names being secured by members of Delta Theta Phi, the candidate's legal fraternity, and Ohio members of the International association of Civitan clubs, of which Chief Justice Marshall is president.

During his term of office, Chief Justice Marshall has made 600 public addresses, and has spoken in practically every one of the 88 counties in Ohio. In addition, he has made scores of talks over the radio on various subjects of the day. He is a member of the Muskingum County Bar association, Law institute, the American Judicature society, and is chairman of the Ohio judicial council. Paper-Wool Twine for Tying Fleeces Saving of 2 Cents Pound Made by Farmer on Wool Properly Prepared.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Although the wool trade has long complained bitterly against the use of binding twine in tying fleeces on the farm, the practice still continues to a large extent in many states, says the United States Department of Agriculture. The use of such twine is objectionable because small shreds cling to the wool and appear in the finished cloth, from which they can be removed only by expensive hand labor. The use of paper-wool twine manufactured especially for tying fleeces is advocated instead of sisal (binder twine), hemp, jute, or twine of similar fibers. One large wool producer reports a more ready sale and a saving of two cents a pound on wool properly prepared for market.

Chaff and Straw Hurt.

Chaff and straw, allowed to get into the fleeces through carelessness in feeding, from unswept floors at shearing time, or during storage, also make fleeces less valuable and unattractive to the buyer, and sometimes results in a loss to the grower—an avoidable loss—of as much as ten cents a pound. The appearance of a fleece is also improved if rolled up and tied with the flesh side out. Twine of moderate size is best for tying, and not more than two strands each way is advisable. To withstand the strains of handling and shipping use bags in good condition.

The practice of branding with lead paint or tar is a great detriment because these materials will not scour out in the manufacturing process. Where branding or marking is necessary, as small a brand as possible should be put on and care taken not to slip it on carelessly. If the undesirable paint or tar brands have been used they should be clipped from the wool at shearing time and packed separately or thrown away.

Desirable Marking Fluid.

A soluble marking fluid manufactured especially for branding purposes is most desirable and should be used in preference to common paint or tar.

More attention to the details of shearing, handling, storage, and preparation of the fleeces for market would mean a general improvement in the wool of this country, and make it compare more favorably with most of the foreign wools imported for manufacturing purposes.

Profitable Practice in Sweet Clover Culture

A profitable practice in sweet clover culture is that in which the clover is sown with the oats in the spring. As soon as the oats crop has been harvested, the clover takes on a rapid growth and soon furnishes a valuable hay crop. Soon after the hay has been made, the crop furnishes fall pasture and can be turned under early the next spring in time for a corn crop. A rotation such as this furnishes three crops—oats, sweet clover hay and corn—as well as fall pasture, in two years. In addition the system furnishes a legume every other year for soil improvement. The oats must be cut high enough so as not to injure the on-coming clover.

To Prevent Sheep Worms

It is most important to keep sheep and lambs as free from stomach and other worms, as possible. To accomplish that the ewes should be treated for expulsion of worms during summer and again before being bred, and when the lambs come, the ewes and their young should go to new seeding and should have a "fresh bite" of grass at short intervals during the entire period of grazing. Especially try to keep ewes and lambs off low, wet permanent pasture.

FARM NOTES

Give your chicks a good start and they will repay you with a good finish.

Everybody has an income of 24 hours to spend each day. Do you budget yours?

Sunlight is the cheapest and best disinfectant for use in the poultry flock.

Under good husbandry there would be no "marginal" land; if it can't grow field crops, or furnish pasture, let it grow tree crops.

One eternal triangle is commendable. It has for its vertices the farmer, the banker, and the farm bureau in the dairy community.

Sweet clover makes an excellent pasture and should be used more generally for this purpose. Sweet clover is also one of our best soil-improvement crops.

If it is impossible to use new ground for the chicks it is well to thoroughly clean up the old ground and sprinkle lime plentifully in order to kill as many of the bacteria as possible.

Hogs are the most efficient domestic animals found on the farm, since they will consume a greater diversity of feeds than other animals and since they will convert this feed into more pounds of meat.

DERBY UNION DELIGHTFULLY ENTERTAINED

Twenty Men Received Honorary Members and Eight Women as Actives.

One of the great features among social events was the Derby W. C. T. U. reception for the new members, Tuesday evening, June 1.

Mrs. Etta Graham, president of the union, charmingly entertained ninety guests. The beautiful summer evening, the wide thrown doors, the comfortable capacity of the home, with music furnished by Miss Maxine Bowers, and the welcome of the organization, created an atmosphere for a most delightful evening.

The home was attractively enhanced with peonies gathered from home lawns, mingled in deepest colors. Green and white blended in exquisite tones were the colors employed. In the artistic table appointments. Peonies filled an immense basket in the center of the table, its handle tied with a large white bow, roses in delicate yellow, and spray of fern indicated the signature of the organization on the banquet table. A three course luncheon was served.

Mrs. Graham presided and gave a word of greeting with an inspirational story before commencing the program. The opening was the "White Ribbon Rally Song." Mrs. Alma Hays led the devotionals, followed by a beautiful piano solo by Mrs. Emil Bauhan. Twenty men gave their names as honorary members and eight women as active members. The White Ribbon ceremony was performed. Little Misses Marvene Ridgway and Doris Liston were the White Ribbon bearers. Mrs. Retta Riddle, vice president introduced the new members. Mrs. Minnie Ridgway, superintendent of social meetings, presented the tray of White Ribbon bows which were pinned on all honorary and active members by the president. "Blest be the tie" was sung while the white ribbon was wound around the members.

The oldest honorary member is 77 and the youngest is 21. The oldest active member is 82 and the youngest is 12. The Derby union thinks it has something to be proud of and to boast about. The evening was delightfully whiled away in contests and visiting.

Those enjoying the evening were: A. M. Daugherty, Vinnie Bauhan and wife, M. C. Edwards and wife, Ira Liston and family, Brough Graham and family, Halda Winfough and family, Alva Skinner and family, Ben Straley and family, Harve Wardell and family, Dr. A. L. TENT MEETING NEARING END GOOD SERMON

A soul-stirring sermon was delivered Wednesday evening at the tent meeting by Miss Gertrude Essek.

I want to talk to you this evening on the three appointments made by God. The first can be ignored but the last two cannot be. The first is the appointment of salvation; the second is the appointment of death; and the third is the appointment of the judgment.

Are you going to fill the appointment of salvation so you may be ready to fill the appointment of death and the judgment, for they will be no fear to those who have been washing in the blood of the lamb, but it will be an anticipation, something to look forward to. "For it is appointed unto man once to die and after that the judgment."

Only six more services in this wonderful tent meeting. How many are going to attend and meet the appointment of salvation that they may be able to look forward to the other two appointments with joy?

Gives Wife to Buddy, Then Gets Divorce

Milwaukee, Wis.—Judge Gustave G.
Gehrz granted a divorce to Roman Wisniewski, who charged that his wife, Helen, had been stolen from him by Benjamin A. Miller, Chicago, who was his buddy in the Russian army and best man when he married.

Wisniewski located in Milwaukee and Miller in Chicago. In 1924 his wife joined him. Miller came from Chicago to visit. The husband began to suspect Miller and his wife.

Each acknowledged love for the other, whereupon he told his wife his friend should have her. The husband accompanied him and the wife to the depot, bought the tickets and gave Miller $5.

The following month Mrs. Wisniewski returned to her husband, and he took her back. Later the husband again began to suspect his wife and he sued for a divorce.

Through an interpreter Mrs. Wisniewski denied she ever had been in love with Miller. She admitted that she had gone to Chicago with him but said she had done so because of anger.
While in Chicago she lived alone and supported herself, she testified.

A BIG MISTAKE

It has been reported that the Circle-business. There is nothing to it.

On account of there not being enough work to keep me busy I have accepted a position as welder with the Mid-West Box Co., where I work during the day. I do my welding at the shop of evenings. Bring me your next job and have it done right.

Their Ideas on Matrimony

By H. IRVING KING

(Copyright.)

CHARLOTTE was not decided whether she would marry a soldier or a poet. One or the other she was determined on. Her parents, worthy but rather commonplace Mr.
and Mrs. Landers, wanted her to marry a successful business man. Soldiers and poets are picturesque but seldom overburdened with this world's goods, and the fond parents desired, above all things, that Charlotte should be surrounded with all the comforts and little elegancies after her marriage to which she had been accustomed before it.

There were many young men of irreproachable character and good standing in Bradstreet's who might have proposed to Charlotte if she had given them any encouragement—but she didn't. This was distressing to Father and Mother Landers; but what can you do with a romancing young lady to whom the twanging of Apollo's lyre, or the clash of the sword of Mars is sweeter music than the sound of the cash register's bell? So Mr. and Mrs. Landers gave it up and took Charlotte to a winter resort where the girl was very sure she could either snare among the orange groves a poet, or lure into her net a commissioned demigod of war from the neighboring army station.

After all Mr. Landers was exceedingly well to do, so he decided to let the girl have her way. He rather hoped that the victim would be a soldier. He had an idea that poets cost more to support than soldiers; but he didn't know. Charlotte had not been in the place a week when she made her catch. And it was a poet! He was a good-looking poet, too; none of your long-haired sort with frayed collars and fringes on the bottoms of their trousers-legs, but a healthy, vigorous young man who played tennis and golf, and rode and shot and stood six feet six straight as an arrow. She was introduced to him at a hop at the hotel, and the woman who did the introducing whispered: "He writes beautiful poetry." And his name was all that could be wished—it was Reginald Ridgeway. Charlotte introduced the question of poetry at once and they had a most delightful talk on that subject between the dances. The next night they took a stroll beneath the palms and palmettoes and Reggie recited to her some of his own verses.
Next thing he gave her a little volume of his own poetic works beautifully bound in gilded leather, and Charlotte got some of the pieces by heart and recited them to him—and this seemed to rejoice him greatly. Then one day she heard a newcomer at the hotel address him as Major.

"Why did that man call you Major?"
asked Charlotte.

"Oh, I was a major during the World war," replied Reggie. "I'll show you some of the decorations I got, if you are interested in such things."

"Interested? Well, rather! And for the next two days she kept shutting him off when he tried to talk poetry and made him talk war. Could anything be more perfect? A poet and soldier! Not a regular soldier, to be sure, but still a soldier—he told Charlotte he was still in the reserve. And besides she was actually in love with him—and he, apparently, with her. She shuddered as she thought of what might have been had she yielded to her parents' wishes and married a common business man. Charlotte did not fail to express to Reggie her deestation of "tradesmen" and "business men"—whereat Reggie made no remark; from his Olympian heights of war and poetry he could afford to ignore such creatures. Then came the day at last when Reginald intimated that it was time he was getting back to New York. That night, as the full moon shed its light over sea and land and the orange blossoms flung abroad their perfumes upon the gentle winds, Reginald opened his heart to Charlotte, said a lot of poetic things and got permission to "see father." Mr.
Landers received the young man with a rather mournful if resigned countenance; but after a few moment's conversation with him appeared to Charlotte all smiles and chuckles and blurted out: "Ridgeway has been to see me and it's all right. You are a sensible girl, after all. That young man has got money. I take it that the firm of Ridgeway & Ridgeway is about the biggest wholesale firm of cheesemongers in Little Old New York."

"Oh, Reginald," said Charlotte about an hour after, as she sat with her head reclining on her lover's broad shoulder, "you deceived me—I thought you were a poet and a soldier."

"So I am a poet," replied he, "and a blamed good one, too—though the critics won't admit it; and as for soldiering—my record speaks for that."

"True, true," said Charlotte "and to me you will always be my poet, my soldier! It's too bad cheese pays better than poetry— isn't it?"

"Oh, I don't know," replied Reggie;
"poetry pays pretty well since it has brought me you."

These Days

"I wish to obtain a divorce," announced the fair but angry client as she flounced into the courtroom.
"Certainly, madam," obliged the court clerk. "Take it with you, or shall we mail it?"—American Legion
